The total embarked to date has now passed the 1,850,000 mark. The September shipments exceeded 250,000, although cases of influenza in camps at home exceed 100,000.

NEW YORK SHAKEN AGAIN

New York, Oct. 4.—This city was again shaken at 10:30 o'clock with a series of explosions at the Gillespie plant at Perth Amboy.

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Oct. 5.—Prince Maximilian of Baden, the new German Imperial Chancellor, will declare against annexations in the east and will favor the full restoration of Belgium, according to dispatches received from Varsch. It is believed his statement of policy will be based on portions of the Reichstag peace resolution of 1917. It is further understood that he will be disposed to confide the revision of the Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest treaties to a congress of belligerents, will declare against payment of damages done in France, will demand the freedom of the seas in the German sense of the phrase. He is understood to be opposed to any arrangement with France concerning Alsace-Lorraine, being absolutely opposed to the return of those provinces.

AMERICANS THREATEN ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT POINTS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 5.—The American advance northwest of Verdun threatens the greatest single communication line between Germany and the west front. Gen. Pershing's forces have now reached a point within 18 miles of this great artery. This information was given today by Gen. March. The progress of Gen. Pershing's forces caused the German General Staff to throw into this sector many divisions of reinforcements, the Chief of Staff said, but despite this the Americans now only have maintained the positions won but have pushed forward until they now face the German lines held line of defense.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION AT MORGAN, N. J.

Last Night--Another Explosion Followed
This Morning--Hundreds Killed

(By Associated Press)
Perth Amboy, N. J., Oct. 6.—With flames raging among the buildings where explosions occurred all night at the great shell loading plant of T. A. Gillespie & Co., at Morgan, N. J., hundreds were at 10 a. m. today that hundreds of persons had perished. Of the company's 2000 night shift employees only 101 had been definitely accounted for 13 hours after the first explosion had shaken the town and surrounding territory as far as New York City where the shock rocked houses and shattered windows in the business district. While unofficial estimates place the number of known fatalities at 137, at 10:30 a. m. an officer of the company expressed the opinion that the death list would prove smaller.

U. S. TANKS SCATTER GERMANS

American Headquarters in France, Oct. 4.—When German forces advanced on Tuesday in an attempt to capture Apremont, on the front northwest of Verdun, American tanks suddenly emerged from the town in all directions. The tanks went rushing through the German ranks spraying bullets into them from all ahead and spreading the utmost terror and consternation.

The American tanks, after smashing their way through the German lines, wheeled about and repeated the operation with deadly results. The enemy losses were extremely heavy. In one German company nine men were killed and 20 were wounded out of 70. In another company 10 were killed and 40 were wounded out of 80.

To the Public:

This week began a large increase in the number of telephone calls originated, and, unfortunately, with an increase in the number of telephone operators afflicted with the gripe.

Until an improvement in the situation comes about, it is to be expected that an operating force, reduced by 30 to 40 per cent, cannot successfully meet all service requirements in spite of their splendid efforts.

It is asked that the Public

1. REDUCE THE NUMBER OF SOCIAL TELEPHONE CALLS TO THE ABSOLUTE MINIMUM.
2. Avoid calling "Information" unless absolutely necessary. Consult the telephone directory for number wanted.
3. Relieve the toll lines to out-of-town points by restricting such calling to emergency needs.
4. By not permitting children to use the telephone.

Only by the above means can the epidemic fighting forces, Federal, State and Municipal, receive the aid that they need.

GARFIELD REFUSED TO LIFT THE BAN

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 4.—Fuel Administrator Garfield today refused to lift the ban on the use of automobiles for the next two Sundays as requested by Governor McCall of Massachusetts, on the ground that people would be better out in the air during this epidemic. Dr. Garfield's refusal was based upon the advice of Acting Surgeon General Richards of the Army that the discontinuance of the gasoline Sunday would not have any direct influence on the spread of the disease.

WANT TO KNOW LANGUAGE WHEN REACH BERLIN

With the American Forces in France, Oct. 4.—Many American soldiers in France have taken up the study of the German language. Some say they are eager to talk to the German prisoners, and others explain that they desire to be prepared to speak German when they reach Berlin. Nearly every American company has one or more individuals who speak German, more or less, and the boys study German during spare moments. After two or three months in France many American soldiers are able to speak some French.

BOSTON CLOSES SALOONS AND SODA PLACES

(By Associated Press)

Boston, Oct. 4.—The Boston Board of Health in an effort to stop the spread of the influenza have issued an order closing after Sunday night all saloons, bowling alleys, pool rooms, soda fountains and auction rooms for an indefinite period.

Governor McCall and the Emergency Health Committee issued a request to the churches that all church services be abandoned and it was the opinion of the committee that there would not be a church open Sunday. The matter of outdoor gatherings was under discussion by the board and some officials maintained that a crowd is bad even in the open air.

DRIVING HARD AT THE GERMAN LINES

(By Associated Press)

Nowhere are the armies of the Teutonic allies being permitted to rest. On the front in France, in Italy, in Albania and Turkey the enemy still continues to give ground and are being compelled to throw strong reserve reinforcements into the battle line to hold back the allies.

In Belgium-Flanders the Belgians, French and British troops are still driving forward, although their speed is somewhat lessened by the bad condition of the ground.

The enemy is quickly evacuating the salient between Armentieres and Lens and the British are now standing only a scant six miles southwest of Lille over a front of four miles between Warrin and Equihen, notwithstanding the violent counter attacks of the Germans who are reinforced by a number of fresh reserves.

The British between St. Quentin and Cambrai have reached Le Chatell and have captured important positions around Cambrai of such value that it is apparent that the city can not much longer be held by the Germans.

Taken all in all the situation of the Germans in this region is very critical. Far to the rear the alarm report that the roads are congested with the retreating troops and supply trains. As in Flanders fires are seen everywhere and it is evident that the Huns know that they must give further ground and are applying the torch in their usual ruthless manner.

Around Rheims the French have extended their lines northward northwest of the city and they are alongside of the Alsace canal. To the east in Champagne, where the Americans are fighting with the French, they have crossed the Seltz river and the Argonne forest. In addition to holding their original battle line inside and east of the Argonne forest, to the west of the Argonne forest with the aid of the French tanks they have taken the important heights of Blanc Mont and the Meudon farm and have passed farther north.

At the same time the French have advanced their line along Challerange and gained a better position for operating along the railroad to Vouziers and are keeping the Germans in the northern part of the Argonne forest under an enfilading fire through the Alfa valley, while the Americans are rushing ahead.

The last reports are that the American troops have advanced two miles into this great forest and on the eastern side are pressing slowly forward. Through the entire region the Germans are offering a most stubborn resistance. In the mountain region of northern Italy the Italians on several sectors are attacking the Austrians while in Albania the retreating Austrians are everywhere being harassed by the Italians. The Italian cavalry are far ahead of the infantry.

The Senio river in eastern Albania has been crossed and the Italians continue the advance.

In Palestine the Turkish army has been driven far beyond Damascus by the British.

Reports are that another effort is to be made by the Austrian-Hungarians for a peace drive and are seeking

CIDER REACHES RECORD PRICE

Although there is a very plentiful crop of apples in this section of the country, the price, like everything else, is being kept well up above normal and if the prices asked at the fruit stores was to be taken as a sample of orchard would be worth more than a shipyard. The price of cider is also the highest ever known and it is so high that many farmers are simply shaking the trees and then selling the apples to the cider mills. The price of old cider is almost as much as a whiskey before the war and vinegar is also at the top of the market.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, October 5, 1918.

Stand to the Rack.

The best statement of the present situation was made a few days ago when an American leader in a position to understand all the facts said: "The war is won but not finished."

That is exactly the condition, and it leaves but one thing to do, which is to go on and finish the war. While everything is going well with the Allies and victory is in plain sight, although the distance to it cannot be measured, this is no time for feeling that the work in hand is virtually done or that it would be safe to relax effort in the least degree.

And while the German army has been getting the worst of it for a long time and falling back steadily under the pressure exerted by the Allied and American forces, it must be remembered that this is not because of physical weakness on the part of the Teutons. There has been a great deal of talk about the condition of the German army not being up to the mark. It has been claimed that its ranks are to a considerable extent filled with old men and boys and that the men are not properly clothed and fed.

This claim has been disputed by good authorities in the past, and now comes forward Maj. J. J. Moorehead, in charge of the American evacuation hospital on the Aisne-Meuse front, who says the physical condition of the Germans is excellent. He says they are tougher and can stand more physical suffering than the Americans, and that for this reason they recover more readily from wounds. Major Moorehead says the German soldiers have no fat on them, but it is clear that they have had enough food to keep them in condition.

This makes the victories that are being won by the Allies all the more creditable. It establishes the fact that they are not fighting an army of weaklings, but forces of trained and seasoned men who are fully up to the mark so far as physical condition is concerned. There is still a lot of fight in them, and it must be taken out of them in the only way that this can be done.

The war must go on. It is won but not yet finished. Consequently none must assume that it is safe to slacken effort to any extent whatever in the raising of funds for continuing the struggle until it ends in complete victory for the forces of freedom and justice for all nations.

President Wilson and other government officials have already called attention to this matter. Fearing that many will jump to the conclusion that the war is virtually over and that it will make no difference whether they buy Liberty bonds or not, they have warned the people that there must be no relaxation of effort at this time. The pressure must be continued and increased. Now is the time for redoubled effort. The money must be kept coming and the men must be kept going over until it becomes as plain to Germany as it is to the rest of the world that further resistance is useless, and then the war will be finished as well as won.

Buy bonds!

According to reports from various quarters the influenza epidemic is proving that whiskey has its uses, notwithstanding the terrific drive that is being made against it at the present time. Some authorities pronounce it one of the best remedies for the disease that is now sweeping the country, especially when resorted to in the early stages of the malady.

There are loyal Germans in this country. Out in South Dakota a German farmer called on the local committee the other day and asked the amount of the town's allotment of Liberty bonds. When told that it was $12,000 he immediately took the whole amount, being glad to thus back up his son and the other boys who are fighting in France.

It is very comforting to the people of this section to know that serious cases of illness at Camp Devens, in which there are many New Hampshire boys, will be immediately reported to near relatives of the victims. This work will be done through the Red Cross, which misses no opportunity to make itself useful in these troublous times.

There is a decided improvement in the grippe situation at Camp Devens, and in many New England cities the conditions are better than they were. The probability is that the worst will soon be over, but in the meantime the fight against this unwelcome and dangerous visitor must be relentlessly kept up.

It has been decided that it will be impracticable to have the American soldiers in France vote at the coming election. They are very busy at more important work, and without doubt they are all willing to leave the election to the folks at home.

Venison has appeared in the markets of some Maine cities, but the price is not such as to bring down the cost of beef.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Guesse Poster

(From the Portland Oregonian)

Every child with a missing hair, every woman with a breast cut off, every girl with years of misery behind and ahead, appeals to America to put over the fourth loan. Can you contemplate them and be a slacker?

Traitors, Cowards and Blackers

(From the St. Paul Dispatch)

Nobody loves a traitor, Benedict Arnold found that out after he had taken full draft of the rewards of his perjury. And nobody loves a coward or a slacker. Three thousand Americans who escaped from the United States to Mexico before the first registration day last year are finding that out. Even among Mexicans they find themselves objects of contempt.

Of these men, who will be prosecuted and given the full penalty of the law whenever they return to the United States, General Crowder says: "Their lot is one of constant harassment. In Mexico City, where the most wealthy ones have established a colony, they are ostracized completely not only by other American residents in the city who are above draft age, but by natives as well. They are constantly subjected to insults and taunted as they pass through the streets."

But with all these irritants of a state of misery the bitter pill of all must be the slacker's complete loss of self-respect. These young men, many, if not most of them, supported by wealthy parents, have abundance of time on their hands. In which to compare themselves, cowards, deserting their fundamental obligations in time of need, with that magnificent few of young manhood in France blazing itself through airy clouds, or over desolate entrenchments to glory.

The soldier's life may be hard. But it is easier in any case than that of the wretched miscreant who, turning yellow under the crucible test, finds himself abhorred both of man and of God.

The Dangers of Too Much Money

(From the Boston Traveler)

Admiral Bowles, who has direct charge of all the Delaware shipbuilding plants for the government, has the courage to come right out in meeting and say:

"The fundamental trouble with the shipyard workers is that they are getting too much money. The situation in which a man can earn in two or three days more than enough for his weekly expenses and needs is not conducive to a steady and earnest application to his work."

This reminds us of the old story told by Gerald Stanley Lee, a New Englander who was managing a mill in the South found it impossible to keep his Negroes working.

When they received their pay at the end of a week they were multimillionaires and did not return to work Monday morning. Many of them did not return to work until Wednesday or Thursday.

By working two days a week all their wants were satisfied. To make them work six days a week, the manager did a simple thing. He merely increased their wants.

He brought to their attention many desirable articles, better furniture, pianos, fancy clothes—things that cost quite a bit of money.

To get these things, the Negroes needed money, and to get money they had to work.

There is no sense in cursing the employees who do not know how to use their sudden wealth in a sensible manner. It is not their fault.

Do we not know of many rich men's sons whose handling of money showed no great amount of wisdom?

When we have given people money we have not done our whole duty. It is up to us to show them how to use it wisely.

Providing free entertainment for workers who are well paid shows no commonsense. They must be given the opportunity to make use of their new wealth.

To be able to spend money wisely is even harder than earning it. And efficiency and wise spending of wages go hand in hand.

PEOPLE'S OPINION

Menace to Health

Editor Herald:

While the health authorities have posted suggestions, closed churches, theatres, schools, etc., to prevent the spreading of the influenza, why not go further and clean up the germ laden cars which carry workmen to the shipyard and navy yard. I am a daily passenger on the shipyard train and I know that the condition of the cars cannot help but spread the disease.

Navy yard workmen have the same complaint. Why are these cars never washed or disinfected by the railroad? No wonder that there are so many men ill who are employed in these government plants. If the health officers want to do something that will go a long way to prevent the spreading of the disease let them have these cars made ill for use.

It is hard to understand why the government is working so hard in other ways to stamp out the epidemic and allow its own workmen to ride every day in trains that are loaded with germs.

It is time that the condition of these passenger cars had some attention to the good of the public health and in the railroad cannot get the necessary help to make the cars sanitary, the government which is in control of the system, should find it easy enough to provide men to clean these trains once a day if no more.

NUMBER 13 HAS NO TERROR FOR MARINES

Thirteenth Regiment Arrives Safely in France.

With their regimental song, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the 13th Regiment of United States Marines has arrived in France. Word of their arrival reached the Navy Department in a cablegram on Thursday.

In connection with its departure, the number "13" played an important part. The regiment left the overseas depot at Quantico, Va., on Friday, September 13, with many of the men using the number as a lucky charm. Numbers of them shook hands with each other 13 times, said good-bye to comrades 13 times, and sang 13 songs on their departure. One marine made an effort to take along 13 black cats, but was unable to carry out his ambition. Word of their arrival in France came 13 days after their departure, on a date twice 13, September 26.

The Thirteenth Regiment is rated as one of the crack units of the Marine Corps. A record of efficiency was attained by it in marksmanship shortly before leaving Quantico. Of the entire regiment consisting of 3,800 officers and enlisted men, 3,053 or 79 per cent now hold the right to medals won on the rifle range. This is one of the best percentages that ever has been made to a perfect marksman, sharpshooter, and expert rifleman personnel.

Theoretical perfection in shooting calls for one-seventh of a given unit to qualify as expert riflemen, two-sevenths to qualify as sharpshooters and four-sevenths to qualify as marksmen. This unit held good almost to the man throughout the 95 per cent of the Thirteenth Regiment of Marines. Of the total of 3,653 who qualified, 506 won expert rifleman's medals, 951 qualified as sharpshooters and 2,196 as marksmen.

Nor were the members of the Thirteenth chosen for their shooting ability. The personnel consists of the usual material of a Marine regiment and their qualification is a testament to the excellent training that is being given the men, combined with the natural intelligence of the Marine recruit.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the workmen at the Atlantic Heights shared in a big job on Friday. That the Atlantic Shipyard men had thrown a coffin with the supposed Kaiser into the river following a burial service.

That the men at the Heights did not know that the men at the shipyard had held the ceremony and went out after the coffin floating in the stream.

That when they got sight of the inscription on the coffin they sneaked back and said nothing.

That when the Kaiser's name is mentioned to any of them they repeat the words of the signs carried on the wind shields of many automobiles.

That a well known local railroad man slipped one over on his close friends.

That congratulations on his recent marriage are somewhat belated but have been due since August.

That he may get all the glad hand stuff all at once.

That if the ban was taken off on gasless Sundays at present it might help in preventing the spreading of the grippe.

That the health officials say get plenty of fresh air, and the little old Ford could be used by the family to get the air.

WHAT THE DIET KITCHEN IS DOING

How Our Citizens Can Assist in the Present Emergency.

The Red Cross Diet Kitchen which was established on Friday at the North Parish house is filling a great want and the busy workers there are doing no end of good work in the preparing and sending out one nourishing food, to people who are ill.

Mrs. Lucius H. Thayer is in general charge and Mrs. Dorothy Emerson, the Post Demonstrator, and Mrs. Alice Griffin are in charge of the kitchen. Mrs. Frances Wiggin has a voluntary today, all being skilled in the work.

Food proper for the sick and convalescent, is being prepared today, such as oatmeal, arrowroot, farina and corn meal gruels, marked milk, junket, barley jelly, fruit jelly, orange jelly, chicken broth and beef broth; also custards and light desserts which call for milk and eggs.

Eleven families were provided with nourishment from the Diet Kitchen Friday, and more are being provided for today. Chicken, meat and vegetables are also being cooked that patients may be sent out to the convalescent, who while improving are unable to cook their own food.

The Diet Kitchen will be a great aid to the sick as often there are now several ill in one family and no one is well enough to make nourishing food. If the sick get the proper nourishment more will get well.

Those having charge of the Diet Kitchen may obtain proper food for their patients when it can be cooked at home with difficulty, by telephoning 1311-3. If unable to come for the food it will be sent by messengers and food is also cooked for well people who are caring for the sick and unable to attend to the household duties beside.

While the Red Cross never charges for its service and no price is made on the foods sent out, those who are able and wish to may donate a contribution to the Diet Kitchen when obtaining food. People are urged to contribute cooked food to the Diet Kitchen from where it will be distributed to advantage, also foods which are used in the preparation of nourishment for the sick. Chickens, milk, eggs, cordials, oranges, containers will be greatly appreciated.

The Diet Kitchen will be run daily, Sunday's included, while the epidemic lasts.

Several people have volunteered to drive cars today and act as messengers when food is sent out to sick people.

He is charged with failing to register for the war draft. Karankis is 21 years of age and failed to register on both occasions of registration. When he appeared at the Atlantic Corporation for work today he was asked to show a registration card and not possessing the same he was immediately arrested.

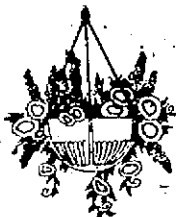

The case was reported to the United States marshal's office at Concord, where he will be taken for a hearing this afternoon.

EPIDEMIC SITUATION FEWER DEATHS

Second Emergency Hospital
Has 24 Patients; Diet
Kitchen Opened.

The Spanish influenza condition about this city is practically the same as it has been for several days. There appears to be no abatement of the disease nor has there been any great increase in the number of new cases.

There were eight deaths in the past twenty-four hours from this disease and pneumonia, and there are many very ill about the city and at the two emergency hospitals.

The Public Health Service is now well equipped for physicians, six being attached to the service here, but they are still lacking nurses. Two have arrived in the past twenty-four hours and still more are needed, at both the hospitals and for outside patients.

Two additional physicians reported on Friday and with Drs. Preble and Stone, makes six physicians attached to the zone. They were used on Friday, making calls in the surrounding country, where the people could not secure physicians and they have relieved in a measure the strain on the local physicians. They have been at the shipyards looking after some of the sick there and doing whatever work possible.

The calls for auto drivers and people to act as guides for the physicians and nurses was well responded to, and the Public Health Service was well equipped on Friday.

The Red Cross diet kitchen opened at the North Parish house on Porter street, is filling a great need. Although it was not opened until noon Friday, by evening it had furnished food for eleven sick families of 60 persons and with the prospects of a much larger lot for today. All of the young and food that was left was taken to the Emergency hospital at the Elks' home where it was much needed.

There has been a very generous response of those willing to work at the diet kitchen and at the present time it is well supplied with help. There has also been a generous response for cooked food and as the demand on the kitchen increases the needs for more cooked food will be apparent and will be welcomed. Food for the sick is the essential thing, but food for the well is also desired as there are families where those taking care of the sick have to be fed.

The Red Cross is also keeping open a distributing room at the Girls' Patriotic League, where face masks are being made and given out and pneumonia jackets made and given to those who need them. There has been a good response on the hospital garments, but Mrs. Locke, the chairman, could supply more material for these garments and they can all be used to great advantage.

The public schools will be closed for another week at least, notice to this effect having been given out by Superintendent Clayton on Friday. The ban on all meetings, churches, etc., is still in effect and there will not be any church services on Sunday in any of the churches.

There were twenty-four patients at the Emergency hospital at the Elks' home last night, which is the capacity of the present equipped rooms. It may be necessary today to open up at least another room and eventually it may be necessary to fit up the large lounge room, where fifty beds could be installed if it was necessary.

The present need is not room, but nurses, for until more graduate nurses can be secured it will be unwise to open up more rooms. For instance, last evening at the hospital for twenty-four patients, many very ill, there was one graduate nurse, a trained nurse, and the volunteer helpers who are doing their best, but they are untrained and need of course, supervision. At least two more graduate nurses are needed for the night work alone and an equal number for days.

There was one death at the hospital on Friday night, William Barber, a ship worker, dying from pneumonia.

NO DEATHS AMONG ARMY HERE

A total of 82 cases of grip was the report from the Coast Artillery hospital this noon and all doing nicely. Not a death has resulted since the epidemic started.

DOVER PRIEST A VICTIM OF DREAD
EPIDEMIC

Rev. E. J. Connor, Assistant
Pastor at St. Mary's, Died
Today.

The second priest of the diocese of Manchester to fall a victim of the dread epidemic in a short time is Rev. E. J. Connor, assistant pastor of the St. Mary's church at Dover, who passed away today. Fr. Connor had for the past two weeks been among the sick of the parish in every quarter and in administering to their religious needs night and day he contracted the disease which ended a young and bright life. He was ill but two days. He was a native of Franklin, N. H., and an alumnus of the Rev. John Driscoll of Portsmouth. He was ordained at Montreal in 1914 and has since been assigned to the Dover parish, where he was beloved by every parishioner and his many non-Catholic acquaintances of Dover.

Besides his parents he is survived by a brother in the service of the army and a sister in the Convent of Mercy.

PORTSMOUTH AUTO BOOZE PARTY FINED

U. S. Court Handles Many Important Cases.

Concord, Oct. 5.—Fred Stradman of Jackson pleaded guilty to violation of the espionage act in the United States district court Friday and was sentenced to serve two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta by Judge Edgar Aldrich. Pleas of not guilty were entered by Otto Ingelhardt, of Gulltown and Paul Bretschneider of Wolfeboro, both indicted for the same offense. Ingelhardt, subsequently retraced his plea and was released in $2,000 bail till Monday when sentence will be imposed. He was represented by Jesse H. Little of Manchester.

Three indictments for failure to register were also disposed of by the court. John Kane of Woodstock getting off with a suspended sentence of six months in Hillsborough county jail on payment costs, while Polycarp Myster of Manchester and Fred Hoek of Lakeport drew six months and 60 days' jail sentences respectively. The sentences will be served in Hillsborough county jail and the prisoners were taken there Friday afternoon by Deputy Murchie.

Fifty-three violators of the Webb-Kenyon act were brought in all entering pleas of guilty. The sentences were not so severe as the first 26 drew Thursday, one man getting off with a fine of $1 without costs, the other fines ranging all the way from $5 to $25 with and without costs. One woman was included in the respondents. She admitted bringing in four quarts of whiskey and declined to say anything in extenuation when invited to do so by Judge Aldrich and took the regulation fine of $25 and costs without a taurum.

One of the interesting cases was that of Vincenzo Colantrio of Hampton, who was acquitted of procuring for sale in the Hampton police court, when 15 gallons of sterling ale he had shipped from Boston was seized. Colantrio told the court that he ordered the ale for a gang of men he had working for him. He was fined $15 and costs.

Another coterie of five Portsmouth young men arrested for disorderly conduct while driving from Haverhill to Portsmouth got off with fines of $10 and costs each, the owner of the machine getting the same dose. Four quarts of whiskey and several bottles of beer were found in the car when they were arrested. The most defence offered was ignorance of the law, with the need of alcoholic stimulant prescribed by the doctor with no way of filling the prescription except a trip to Massachusetts.

The man who got off with the dollar fine was one of those whose system requires alcoholic irrigation. He said he went to Haverhill and obtained a small supply and was arrested in New Hampshire. He told the court that he needed a stimulant regularly and Judge Aldrich asked him if he thought he would be able to get along without bringing any into the state hereafter.

"Oh yes, your honor," he replied, "I won't bring any more into New Hampshire."

"He lives in Maine, your honor," explained District Attorney Brown rather dryly.

Probably the fact that the man had spent several weeks in jail had something to do with the fine imposed. James Pernal of Bangor, Me., who was indicted last December for breaking and entering a building in Merrimack, June 15, 1917, in which there was a postoffice, pleaded not guilty as to the date. He admitted breaking into a railroad waiting station and declared that he had served a year and quarter in state prison for the offence, but insisted that he did not know there was a postoffice in the building. Pernal sought to ask the judge about the justice of bringing him into the federal court after he had served time in the state court, but Judge Aldrich advised him to consult a good lawyer about that point, after Pernal had said he had money to pay one. After thinking it over, Pernal retraced his plea and was fined $50 which he paid from a roll of $79 in his possession and gave out that he had a job and intended to lead an honest life hereafter.

EMERGENCY FLEET TO SEND NURSES

Mayor Samuel T. Ladd on Friday received an answer from the Emergency Fleet Corporation to his telegram of Thursday evening telling them of the condition of the epidemic in this city and the great need of help.

They wired that they would help, but would work through the ship yards as much as possible and they would send extra nurses, and asked to whom they should report. He promptly wired back for them to report to the Public Health Service office here, from where they will be distributed to the most needed places.

This is a ray of hope, because the crying need of the city is nurses; there are physicians enough but all of their efforts are null if there are not enough nurses to give proper care.

SHATTUCK SHIP YARD NOTES

GERMANY OVERSUBSCRIBING NINTH LOAN.

Germany has just launched her ninth war loan and it is going over with a slam. England and France are almost abreast with Germany in the number of war assessments. We surely are getting off pretty easy with victory looming up in the distance.

The whole labor world is going to watch the shipyard workers. Everybody knows that the shipyard worker is enjoying a wage rate that is the greatest ever in the history of the industry. The world will be watching to see if we appreciate our positions. They will watch to see if we are willing to help our benevolent employer, Uncle Sam, in his need.

Of course, you invested in the other bonds. What of it? English, French, and Italian workmen did the same thing—and they have been asked to do it nine times. The German shipbuilders are not asked to give, they are forced to come across. You are not forced in the least. The time has not come for force as yet. Still we are all sensible enough to know that if the money does not come through bonds, it must necessarily come through taxes. In other words we are given our choice to either lend to the government now at an attractive rate of interest, or give to the Government later with absolutely no interest or actual return of our money.

The Shattuck Liberty Loan Club has pledged itself to go over the top with a total of $100,000. It is a moral obligation for every employee of the Shattuck plant to join the Club. If you have not joined as yet, get in line immediately. Watch that "thermometer" above the checking booths. If it is not rising quick enough, scout around on your initiative and get a new member or two for the Club. It may be possible that some of the men may have been misled by the committee. In that case see that they are enrolled as soon as possible. We are going to beat out the Navy Yard and the Atlantic. If we can. We can't beat them by cheap talk. It's got to be goods this time, and in the substantial form of Liberty Bonds. Let's deliver those goods.

MR. HURLEY MAKES STATEMENT CONCERNING FUTURE OF SHIPBUILDING.

A good many people assume that when peace comes again and the war needs for ships have been met, the 100 new shipyards which have been created under the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation will have nothing to do. That is a mistaken assumption. We are not anywhere near the end of this shipbuilding job—we are only beginning. Think of the 25,000,000 tons of merchant ships which are being built under the present program. That represents something like 3,000 vessels, most of them modern steel steamers.

They say the Kaiser boasted that every time the Vaterland returned to Germany with a passenger list of American tourists it brought $150,000 to the German people. We are no longer going to pay shipping fares and tolls to Germany. We will pay them to ourselves through the American merchant marine. We are remodeling our ports and preparing to run our ocean fleet as we run our railroads—with the lowest freight and passenger rates in the world and the best service and a reasonable profit for people who put their money into them. Several hundred thousand young Americans are going to sea as officers and sailors in this merchant marine. Millions of dollars of American capital are going to be invested in foreign countries to develop their resources and create export and import trade.

The other day Mr. Newman, formerly president of the New York Central Railroad, died in New York. He started his career as a station agent. Many an American boy who goes to sea the next few years in our merchant marine will rise to be captain of his own ship, general manager of a big American merchant fleet, president of a great American shipping or export corporation.

The thought of America is now turning to merchant ships and foreign lands as never before. We are not merely going to revive our Yankee (Continued on Page Four) clipper ships—we are going to beat them.

To the ship worker this can mean only one thing—that for years after peace comes our ships will be busy.

and our shipyards. We shall build more and more tonnage for ourselves, and other nations, and we shall be busy repairing and remodeling ships. If I were to review the past year in American shipbuilding I should merely repeat the story of an industry of 45,000 workers increased to 250,000 in the shipyards and 250,000 more back in the factories, making ship boilers and engines and equipment. It is far more inspiring to look ahead and see what this industry is to become in five years. Today our railroads employ one million men. I venture to predict that within five years more than one million men will be employed in connection with the American merchant marine—the workers in shipyards, the officers and seamen who man our ships, the men and women in factories making ship equipment and the army of people engaged in export trade.

Giving until it hurts is no idle phrase, coined for its loftiness of sentiment. It's a cold-blooded fact we are facing not far fetched theories. This war must be financed to be won and if not financed to our ultimate, individual personal limit, we are quite plainly lying down on our end of it, we are deserting the boys who have spunk enough to do our fighting for us, to our everlasting shame, disgrace and eternal damnation.

DOVER

Dover, Oct. 5.—At a special meeting of the Dover board of health held Friday noon it was decided to extend the ban against all public gatherings for another week on account of the severity of the influenza epidemic. No sessions in the public or parochial schools will be held next week and all theatres, churches and other places of public assembly are ordered closed until Sunday night, Oct. 13 at midnight.

As the improvement was not a factor in the reports received by the board of health. Practically all of the physicians stated that while new cases of influenza were developing they were of a milder type than the cases had been during the last two weeks. While influenza is on the wane however, pneumonia is increasing. Doctors and hospital officials feel that while conditions are still critical, they now have a grip on the epidemic and believe that within another 24 hours it will be under control. Many of the local physicians are suffering severely and one of their number is sick in bed.

An alarm from box 13 at about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning called the fire department to the clothing store of H. D. Freeman on Central ave., where a fire was in progress in the cellar of the store, caused by the starting of a furnace fire before the chimney leading from the furnace to the chimney had been cleaned out, leaving a large quantity of soot which caught fire. The heat from the burning contents of the pipe ignited some paper boxes in the cellar and the flames soon reached the ceiling and had considerable headway when discovered by Henry Richard, a clerk in the store.

The application of the chemical to the fire department quickly extinguish the flames without causing much damage.

ROCHESTER

Rochester, Oct. 5.—During a heavy thunder storm at 2 o'clock Thursday morning, a barn of Elmer A. Seibner, Stratford Ridge, was struck by lightning, the bolt passing through the roof into the fire-up, but fortunately there were no cattle there. No fire was set but the barn was injured to the extent of several hundred dollars.

The local electric railway company has filed a petition with the public service commission requesting leave to discontinue the service, between Central and Stratford squares from Nov. 1, 1919 to April 1, 1919 on the ground that it is operated between those dates at a loss and that the discontinuance of the service is in line with the recommendation of the United States fuel administrator to conserve fuel.

Through the efforts of the executive committee of the Red Cross the banquet room in Masonic Temple building has been secured for a hospital and two dozen cots were placed therein Thursday. Several nurses have been secured. It has been planned to have a place for emergency cases.

Mrs. Josephine Valley died Thursday night from pneumonia at the residence of Charles Clark, River street, after a short illness, aged 31 years. She was a native of Wolfboro, the daughter of Frank and Phoebe (Vincent) Britton, and had spent many years in this city. She was employed at the Champlin Mill of late.

SEND IN CLEAR PICTURES

Send in the best picture you can get of your soldier or sailor lad for the Herald's daily picture gallery. The best picture will make the best cut but a few have been sent in that are not clear and others rather small and such, of course, do not show up in the paper as well as cuts made from better photographs or even snap shots. They will be returned after used to the owners. Send in the best and clear cut pictures. Pictures and sketches will be run daily of those in the service from Portsmouth or adjoining towns.

VIVID STORY OF HUN DEVASTATION

(By Associated Press)

London, Oct. 4.—"What a German Peace is Like" is the heading on an article written for the Weekly Dispatch by Annie Parr, who has just arrived in London from Bucharest.

"I was in Bucharest, when the Germans entered the Rumanian capital," she writes. "They had evidently decided that it would not be wise to shock the world with another Belgium, and they were careful to keep their troops under control, but they were the masters. I remember a male friend of mine who was returning home from dinner in evening clothes being stopped in the streets in the middle of the winter and compelled to sweep away the snow for hours in the bitter cold."

"Many a beautiful home was wrecked. The Germans had no scruples about converting drawing-rooms into stables for their horses, and front gardens into cemeteries for their dead. Terrible atrocities were committed by the Bulgarians, and the sufferings of the prisoners they took were unspeakable. Of 30,000 Rumanians taken prisoners only 3,000 returned, and they were in an appalling condition. They were skeletons, scarcely able to walk. At the station they seemed too weak to eat or drink. When we offered them food they simply sank down on to a bench and burst into tears."

"It was a most tragic home-coming for the Rumanian soldiers, following upon the crushing peace terms. It has left on my mind an unforgettable impression of what a German peace is like. Those soldiers came back in rags and half-starved to homes that had been reduced to poverty. They had to wait in a line for the meagre rations of our German soldiers in their streets. The officers were told they would either have to salute the German officers, or take off their uniforms. They preferred to take off their uniforms."

"There are still plenty of German soldiers there looking fat and well, and at no pains to conceal their satisfaction at the conclusion of a peace which has put a crushing economic burden on to Rumania and banded the country and its trade hand and foot to the Germans. The one hope of the people is an Allied victory."

NEED OF OFFICERS FOR ARTILLERY.

The need for officers in the heavy artillery branch of the army is calling forth many men of deferred classification throughout the country in view of the fact that these men have the opportunity to return to civil life should they fail to be commissioned after their course in the officers' school at Fort Monroe, Virginia. They will give many with technical education who registered September 12th but who have deferred classification an opportunity to secure commissions and training under army officers in the great school for heavy artillery at Fort Monroe. Every week a new course is opened at this school with a class of 100 potential officers who receive training for three months. Any man with a mathematical education will be given plenty of opportunity to "brush up" on this work before he is sent to the school for training for a commission. Application may be made at the coast defenses headquarters at Fort Constitution.

YOU ARE EXPOSED TO SERIOUS DISEASES

That is, liable to contract them, when your blood is impure and impoverished, deficient in iron, and you are weak and nervous.

At such a time, the best treatment for you, so far as medicine goes, is that combination that is giving so much satisfaction and is found to be so economical—Blood's Sarsaparilla before eating, Pepton after eating, and, if a laxative is needed, Blood's Pills at night on going to bed.

The waste of the old flat-flame gas light runs as high as 75 and 80 per cent. "Each mantle burner substituted for a flat-flame burner will save probably not less than an ounce of coal a day," says the United States Chamber of Commerce in an important bulletin on saving fuel.

CHARITY: WELL, WORTH, WHILE

How Tennessee Community Built House and Presented It to Poor but Deserving Widow.

You are all familiar with the story of "the house that Jack built." But I wish to tell you of a house that neighbors built in a small town in the South, says a writer in Christian Herald.

It was obvious to this community that if a certain family only had a home, they could be self-supporting; while, as it was, every cent they earned went for rent.

Two kind, practical men took the matter up and evolved a plan whereby such a home could be made by small contributions, no burden being placed on any one. Personal calls were begun, and help solicited, consisting of money, material or labor. So heartily was the response that within a month a lot was purchased, then a three-room house with two porches was erected, out-houses for cow and chickens were built, a garden fence, and a well bored, with windmill set up. Good material was used—concrete foundation, and brick flue and chimney. The lot had been set in fruit trees when bought, so there was a ready-made orchard. And when the painter was through with the buildings an insurance agent gave a three-year policy in case of fire. Every bit of the labor was voluntary work.

The most eager helpers, however, were the men who went in wagons to move the family home. The matter had been kept secret from them, and you can imagine their surprise and joy. They were a little black-eyed widow and three children, whom misfortune had pursued relentlessly for many sad months. In their new home they were very happy, and this made it all immensely worth while.

Now this didn't happen just before Thanksgiving or Christmas, but during the blazing hot days of midsummer, when "sunny" Tennessee was a burning reality.

RAISING FOXES IN ALASKA

Animals Are Bred There for Their Fur, and the Industry Is a Remunerative One.

There are ten or twelve fox farms in Alaska. One of them, situated in the Tanana valley, a mile and a half from Fairbanks, consists of ten acres of cleared land, the greater part of which is covered with pens in which the animals live. From a distance the fox farm looks like a huge chicken yard, with walls of woven wire and enclosures of various sizes inside. Each pen is 60 feet long, 8 feet wide and about 10 feet high. The wire is tough steel and is sunk about four feet in the ground and is then bent so that it runs inward underground for about two feet to prevent the foxes from digging out. At the top the wire has an overhang of two feet to prevent the captives from climbing over. Each pen has a kennel made of boards, like a dog kennel, the entrance to which is a chute or a wooden pipe a foot square. Only one pair of foxes live in each pen. They are very timid and have to be handled carefully. Most of the fox farmers will not allow strangers to enter their property for fear they will frighten the animals. The foxes are fed with salmon, moose meat, horse meat, rabbits, carrots and turnips. A common feed is rice and rabbits cooked together in a stew.

Saints at Earthly Courts.
They tell a tale of two great saints at court, one a Dominican, one a Franciscan. The King of France and the honor to entertain the angel of the schools at dinner, once upon a time. Never a word spoke he, nor morsel ate. His eyes were fixed on the opposite wall, while his mind followed out a train of thought to its conclusion; then followed a mighty thump on the table, and an exclamation: "Now that is conclusive against the Manicheans!" St. Bonaventura sat at such a banquet, gazing intently upon the queen. The king said: "Good Brother Bonaventura, what thinkest thou?" To whom the Franciscan said: "Ah, sire, I think, if the beauty of an earthly monarch be so great, what must be the beauty of the Queen of Heaven!"

The Congressional Daily.
The old Congressional Globe was merged and came changed in 1878 to the Congressional Record, which is issued daily during the sessions of congress. Each member of both houses of congress is supplied with a certain number of the daily issues, and it is also furnished to subscribers for $8 during the long session of congress and $4 during the short session. The superintendent of documents, United States government printing office, Washington, is authorized to sell public documents at cost, and on application that official will furnish, free of charge, price lists showing, under topical headings, the publications available for sale.

Praying and Doing.
Lord Palmerston—"Pum" as he was affectionately termed by his friends—was one of the shrewdest statesmen that ever lived. When petitioned by the Scotch clergy to appoint a day for fasting and prayer, so that a threatened epidemic of cholera might be averted, he replied:

"Clean your streets, keep your homes clean, promote cleanliness and health among the poor, see that they are plentifully supplied with good food and clothing, and employ right sanitary measures generally, and you will have no occasion to fast and pray, nor will the Lord hear your prayer while these his provokers remain unheeded."

WILL REPAIR IT

What often appears to be a serious, ruinous crack or break in a cylinder, casting or piece of machinery, is but a simple piece of repair work to our Expert Welders. Our welding works wonders in repairing broken metal parts—parts that would have to be "scrapped" before the process was invented. Remember, our welding generally makes the broken part stronger than it ever was. Inquiries invited.

SITUATION AT NAVY YARD IMPROVED

The grip epidemic at the Naval prison has been reduced to normal—there being only thirty cases all told. There has not been a case on the Southern where some five hundred men are stationed. The men on the Southern have not been permitted to be with any of the men from the infected places. The health of the men in all departments is showing a big improvement.

OUR LIBERTY LOAN PURCHASES

The figures for the Fourth Liberty Loan as shown by the subscriptions turned in to the Portsmouth banks stand at $334,100 up to last night. A rough estimate of the portion of this total which can be credited to Portsmouth would be $105,000. Portsmouth's quota is $181,500, and with one week of the loan behind us, it can be seen that the city is far behind schedule. The prevailing epidemic has greatly hampered the progress of the loan, preventing rallies and other means of arousing interest. But this only means that every man must work harder and do more, for Portsmouth must "come across." It has never yet failed and it will not fail now, but every individual must realize that to accomplish this end, he must not himself fall in the least degree in his duty. If the boys over there failed in their duty, how would it affect us? If we fail in our duty, how will it affect them? Now all together, let's send it across with a rush.

FIFTY GIRLS OFFER THEIR SERVICES

Will Act as Assistant Nurses During Epidemic.

Fifty girls employed in the electrical shop at the navy yard as female operators, have offered their services as assistants to nurses in the Public Health service during the present epidemic. The first five to volunteer and be accepted are the Misses Dufresne, Haggensen and Cole of Dover, Miss Anna Goodwin of Portsmouth, Miss Elizabeth Moulton of York Village. They are ready for the call at any moment.

NOT A BURGLAR THIS TIME

The police got a hurry call late last night to Richards avenue when a man was reported in the former Dore grocery store.

When the officers arrived they found the man who happened to be the proprietor of the place working about the store at a late hour.

UNITARIAN CHAPEL FOR ENLISTED MEN

Winter Socials by War Community Service Will Be Held There.

At a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Barrett Wendell on Pleasant street Wednesday plans were discussed about carrying on the work for enlisted men for the coming fall and winter, as has been done at the Army and Navy tent in the P. A. C. garden since early in the season. On Friday the plans were completed and the Unitarian chapel on Court street, having been most generously offered by Rev. Alfred Gooding and the Unitarian Society, for this purpose, will be used as a place for the social gatherings for men in the service.

The Army and Navy tent will still be kept up for a few weeks longer and the cafeteria in the P. A. C. garden will be carried on until the work is started in the winter quarters.

Dances will be held at the chapel each week night after the winter work starts there and a splendid feature of the enterprise will be a Service Club carried on at the chapel. Books and papers will be placed at the disposal of the enlisted men who are welcome to bring their friends here for a social time.

A cafeteria for the enlisted men will also be carried on in the chapel and work is to begin at once to arrange for this.

Miss Frances E. Brooks of New York who has so ably assisted Mrs. Barrett Wendell at the Army and Navy tent for the past two seasons, is to be in general charge of the work, remaining in this city for this purpose. There will be chaperones at the chapel at all times and the work will be carried on in about the same way indoors as it has during the summer.

This splendid spirit of the Unitarian Society in turning over its chapel for this work for our sailor and soldier lads is much appreciated and the building will make an ideal place for this purpose.

LOCAL JOTTINGS

The great need of the Hostess House at New Hampshire College, Durham, has been demonstrated since the influenza epidemic as many boys are being cared for there. Dover people are to contribute something toward making it comfortable. The Woman's Club and the Tuesday Club of Dover have been soliciting donations among residents of that city to this end. There are a number of local boys there who have entered the service, who will undoubtedly enjoy its privileges.

Most people have a much prized picture of their soldier lad who is "Over There," even though oftentimes it is but a small photo or a snap shot. Not every one knows that most satisfactory results are obtained by having the small photograph or even the snap shot enlarged. The work may be done by any photographer and the price is really reasonable.

The service pin, worn to show esteem and affection for dear ones in the service, has become most popular, and one often sees a person wearing the three star pin. There are various styles of these pins, ranging from those in silver and gold plate which may be purchased as low as a quarter to fancy designs in 14k gold which cost from 2 to five times that sum and more.

Some few months ago the Kaiser was going "Forward with God," to use his expression. Wonder with whom he is now going backward?

Campfire bags seem to be popular at present. Four little arching gazings in a store window yesterday each had his campfire bag tied around his neck under his blouse and all seemed to be proud to tell they were made by mother as a safe guard against the grip.

Old kid gloves are now being saved for a war use, the lining of aviator's jackets. These require many small pieces of kid and the smallest scraps are used. The kid glove linings make the jackets warmer and thus lessen the danger from exposure as well as serve to make the jacket fit more comfortably because of the softness of the kid.

The Saturday night burglar may as well give up making unwelcome calls on our residents. He can get so little as the silver is all put out of his sight and plated ware is popular in all the homes, while he would have to go some to find money lying about.

BURY THE KAISER AT ATLANTIC CORPORATION

Band Plays Dirge and Workmen Drive Nails in His Coffin.

If the wishes of the men at the Atlantic Corporation and the ceremony which they carried out on Friday stands for anything, the Kaiser, who is on a vacation from Hell was sent back to the infernal concourse with all due honors that men of his type are entitled to.

The funeral of this military maniac took place at noon and every man attended the ceremony, not as mourners but as spectators assisting in the Liberty Loan drive at the same time driving a nail in his coffin.

In this elaborate coffin was supposed to be the remains of Kaiser Bill and which had an appropriate inscription. That Atlantic Band was present and rendered a dirge while every man who bought a bond drove a nail in the coffin. The hammers were busy and the nails were plenty.

After Bill was securely fastened in his wooden casket his remains were dragged on the ground across the yard to the dock and thrown into the river. The last sent-off was a volley of rocks and the floating coffin was bombarded until missiles were at a premium.

Previous to the burial of the Kaiser the rally for the Fourth Liberty Loan speakers addressed the workmen and it was plainly stated that every man should wear the big Liberty Loan button. From the start made there is no doubt but the button will be in the right place.
